

Looking for experienced IB coordinators or teachers to bring IB to the African middle-class

*

* *

About Enko Education:

Enko Education is a startup chain of private schools covering Sub-Saharan Africa. We are building a new model of high schools offering International Baccalaureate education at a price affordable to the middle class. Driven by the large and growing demand for top-quality international schools in Sub-Saharan Africa, we believe our schools will have a tremendous impact.

Description of the role:

Launch an International Baccalaureate High-School in Cameroon!

Enko Education is starting its first high-school (grade 10 to 12) in Yaounde, Cameroon. The high-school is backed by a well-established school in Yaounde and will rely on the International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme. The main instruction language will be English.

We are looking for an IB coordinator to help launch our school and take it through the accreditation process. The aim is to provide local academic and management leadership to successfully roll out the DP and manage the school. Candidate would:

- Lead the project to implement the DP and obtain IB authorization (build the curriculum, setup the school organization and governance structures, as well as processes to comply to IB standards)
- Build the talent pool (recruit, train, guide the local teaching and non-teaching staff)
- Administrate the programme with the support of heads of department, teachers and staff
- Contribute to the development of our network in Cameroon

The ideal candidate:

- shares our excitement to offer a top-notch international education to the African middle-class and understand the specific challenges set by this population, in terms of affordability and expectations,
- demonstrates passion for Sub-Saharan Africa,
- has extensive experience with the IB curriculum, standards, processes and possibly of the DP accreditation process,
- has an entrepreneurial mindset and hands-on attitude

If you connect with our ambition, please contact us, even if you are not available for the above offering, as we have multiple projects in our pipeline. We are definitely looking for all types of support: motivated talents will certainly add to our organization and its vision.

Contact:

Eric Pignot
recruit@enkoeducation.com
Enko Education Investments