

Enko Education launches an international primary school at Enko La Gaieté Campus, Yaoundé

This international primary school will be the primary section of Enko La Gaieté Campus

Yaoundé, 14th May 2019 - The African international schools network Enko Education announced today the launch of a new primary school in Yaoundé, Cameroon. Following parents' demand, this will be the primary section of the famous international school Enko La Gaieté Campus, the first school of the Enko Education network.

Since its inception in 2014, Enko La Gaieté Campus has sent its graduates to prestigious universities such as Yale College in the USA, African Leadership University in Rwanda and Ecole Polytechnique in France. The school wanted to offer more to parents regarding high-quality international education. "By offering a crèche and a primary section that are also international, Enko La Gaieté Campus will allow kids to acquire and construct a solid knowledge base to increase learners' chances to get into the university of their dreams." explained Mrs Justine Nkontchou, founder of the Complexe Scolaire International La Gaieté, Enko La Gaieté Campus' partner.

The primary school will be located in the district of Miniprix Bastos, not far from the current secondary school, and will offer the Cambridge international primary curriculum, with English as the language of instruction. The school will open from crèche to Class 3 in the first year, and then progressively open Class 4 to Class 6.

Cambridge Primary puts learners on an exciting educational journey, setting out what they should be able to do at each stage of their primary education. It develops young learners who are confident, responsible, reflective, innovative and engaged. This programme will be the ideal preparation for secondary school. Enko La Gaieté Campus offers the Cambridge curriculum from Form 1 to 5, leading to the IGCSE certification, and the two-year International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme (IBDP) in Lower and Upper 6th, leading to the world's most recognized and sought-after qualification for university admissions: the International Baccalaureate.

"The program will be taught in English, yet designed for non-English speakers: students will progressively develop their fluency in English, thanks to Enko Education's tailored learning pedagogy", explained Mr Bamidele Akinbo, Head of Enko La Gaieté Campus. "Indeed, in classes never exceeding 24 students, children will follow a high-quality personalised education and make use of new technologies to enhance their learning experiences."

"Enko La Gaieté has been establishing itself as an institution of note in Cameroon and Central Africa for the past 5 years. In 2015 the school received IB accreditation, becoming the first IB World School in Central Africa. With this primary school, we go one step further into increasing access to high-quality international education in Africa", said Mr Eric Pignot, Founder and CEO of Enko Education.

Parents with children aged from 2 to 9 can contact the school's administration at +237 697 265 900, at <https://enkoeducation.com/la-gaiete/> or send an email to lagaiete@enkoeducation.com.

About Enko Education

Enko Education is a network of African international schools founded in 2013, which aims to increase access to a high-quality international education for young people in Africa. Enko Education offers international primary and secondary curricula to provide young talented Africans the opportunity to gain admission to the very best universities in the world.

Enko Education currently operates 13 international schools in 7 African countries and is growing.

For more information about Enko Education at its headquarters in South Africa, please contact Fanny Moral, Head of Communications at fanny.moral@enkoeducation.com, or by phone (+27 84 802 7164), or visit the company website at www.enkoeducation.com.